I'll say things like "we are aware of how much testing and education the sfpucc does around their compost. It's safe and people line up to take it and the puc makes sure they all know its source."

Yup, she emailed me too. I responded that as the administering agency the puc would be responding to all media inquiries for the city.

See below...you should call this person and educate her. This is potentially a big story I'm wondering if you should have Ed available to respond.

Subject: Organic Consumers Association action at City Hall tomorrow regarding sludge compost

Hi Joe:

A.P. is covering the event tomorrow at City Hall--the dumping of the free compost the PUC gives out. Since the Organic Consumers Association is asking Mayor Newsom to halt the giveaway, we need a response from him --what does he say about the claims the association is making that the compost has been given away as "organic" when it in fact is not organic, and that residents have been misled as to the contents, which the OCA asserts have not been proven as safe?

Will the Mayor ask the PUC to halt the distribution of this compost?

Thanks,
Evelyn Nieves
